

Corporate Volunteer Council of Orange County

Dear Corporate Community Leader:

When companies and causes connect, everyone wins. If your company is committed to corporate social responsibility, then joining OneOC's Corporate Volunteer Council of Orange County (CVCOC) is for you.

Founded in 2012, the CVCOC connects business leaders in community involvement with the Orange County nonprofit sector, with the goal of accelerating nonprofit success. Since its inception, the CVCOC has won two awards from the Points of Light Foundation.

As an active Member, your company can advance your corporate citizenship efforts as a recognized leader in the Orange County business community. The CVCOC will support you in identifying Orange County's critical community needs and aligning your business resources as a solution. By working together, we can maximize our impact.

Here are some of the benefits of your OneOC CVCOC membership:

- Access to a network of corporate social responsibility professionals in Orange County.
- Bi-monthly membership meetings on a variety of corporate social responsibility topics, including giving, volunteering, and community engagement best-practices, as well as professional development opportunities.
- Visibility as a socially-responsible company in Orange County.
- Connection to the diverse nonprofit sector through OneOC's nonprofit members.
- Direct collective impact through the annual corporate combined volunteer project.

As a member, we ask that companies actively engage in meetings and events to maximize the benefits for everyone.
